

HOW TO HELP BROKEN PEOPLE

Broken people are everywhere. Here are some thoughts to help you encourage those that need remade.

1. Give them hope

Broken people are usually hopeless people. They need to know that God offers them immediate forgiveness, and they need to know that they have a future.

2. Make sure they focus on their relationship with God first.

Restoration will never be successful unless they have first have a solid relationship with God

3. Remind them not to be discouraged when they stumble

Many of the success stories we hear had several times of stumbling along the way. While we do not excuse the stumbles, we recognize that they are likely to come.

4. Connect them with other people who have found similar victory.

Help them to be an encouragement to others that are struggling to allow God to remake their lives.

This not only helps the other person, but also helps them personally.

Remember God is not in the mending business, but in the making over business.
